Welcome to California State University, Long Beach (CSULB). Some organizations and/or businesses included in this booklet are not affiliated with CSULB, not specifically approved or endorsed. It is always a good idea to check with the appropriate organization for the most up-to-date information.

Create a budget

Once you determine your budget, it will be easier to narrow down your search to what you can afford. You may need to make a compromise on the location (which neighborhood) or living situation (with or without roommate, etc.) to fit the rent into your budget.

Long Beach is comprised of many diverse neighborhoods. CSULB is located in the south-eastern part of the city and at the south edge of Los Angeles County. When choosing a neighborhood, keep in mind the public transportation routes, proximity to the university, grocery stores, stores etc. A description of each Long Beach Neighborhood can be found here: http://longbeachneighborhoods.com/

MAP OF SUGGESTED NEIGHBORHOODS

- Neighborhoods close to CSULB: Bixby Village, Alamitos Heights, Naples, Los Altos, Traffic Circle
- Neighborhoods close to the ocean: Bluff Park, Belmont Heights, Belmont Shore, Naples
As a CSULB student, you get to ride the LB buses for free. If you are planning on living more than biking distance away (2 miles), it might be a good idea to stay within walking distance of a direct bus line to school. To see the bus routes and schedules, please visit https://ridelbt.com/.

There is also a CSULB campus shuttle that runs to and from CSULB to the “Traffic Circle” area every 15 min. To see the campus shuttle route and explore other ways to getting to and from school, please click here.

Applications to rent
Once you have found an apartment you would like to rent, you need to complete an application for rental. (This may or may not be needed if renting in a private home.) The application will ask for your name, rental history, employment history, bank information, credit history and be $25-$50 per person. Be prepared to give references from former landlords, neighbors, employers and/or family. Also, some landlords may ask for income verification, whether it may be a bank statement or a letter from a sponsor.

Rental Agreement / Lease
A lease or a rental agreement is a written contract that is necessary when you rent any sort of property. Verbal agreement (agreement that is made by talking) is extremely risky, especially when conflict arises between you, the tenant, and the landlord. The agreement can clearly state the expectations of all parties who will be living in the household. Try and make the agreement as specific as possible! When the rent is due, late fees, visitors, penalties for moving out early etc. This will minimize many of the common roommate disagreements or landlord/tenant disputes. Also if you will be living with other people, you may want to ask the landlord or roommates’ expectations regarding cleaning, cooking, smoking and alcohol.

Remember, before you sign a lease or rental agreement, take an inventory and note any preexisting damages. Make sure that both you and the owner/manager sign the completed inventory report. If the owner/manager does not have an inventory report form, you may write or type it and both sign the document.

When signing the lease and making a deposit, be sure to keep everything (from receipt of the deposit to the rental agreement) for your record. READ AND UNDERSTAND ALL WRITTEN AGREEMENTS BEFORE YOU SIGN ANYTHING

Social Security Numbers:
If you are renting an apartment, they might ask you for a Social Security Number. Most international students do not have a SS# and cannot get one unless you work legally in the U.S. The reason they want your SS# is to see your credit history (if you pay your bills and if you are in good financial standing) to make sure you will pay your rent on time. What we suggest is to tell them you do not have an SS# because you are an international student, but offer to pay either a higher security deposit OR pay the rent for your whole rental period in advance.

Questions to Ask
- What is the rent per month?
- Is a security deposit required? If so, how much is it and under what conditions would it be returned?
- Do I need to sign a lease? If so, for how long (month-to-month, 6 month or a year)? The advantage of signing a lease is that the rent cannot be raised during the lease period. The disadvantage of signing a lease is that you are legally bound to stay for the lease period or pay for the entire lease period.
- Are there extra charges for utilities, storage space, parking space, late rent payment, etc.? If so, how much?
- Where is the nearest bus stop? Is parking available?
- What are the penalties if I move out early?

Helpful Information
If a situation occurs in which you need assistance in taking legal action, contact the CSULB Office of University OMBUDS (FND 140) or call (562) 985-5983 or visit their Web site: www.csulb.edu/ombuds.

Moving Out
When you decide to move out from your apartment before the lease/contract is up, you are required to give the landlord notice, usually at least one month prior to your expected moving out date. The lease will indicate the amount of time that is required for notifying the landlord. Give your notice in writing, including your name, address of your rental unit, and date on which you intend to move. Include your future address, if possible, so the landlord to mail your security deposit. Schedule a final inspection with your landlord at this time as well. Be sure to clean your apartment thoroughly – leave the apartment in the condition that you first moved in. If you don’t clean the unit, you may risk losing all or part of your security deposit. As you move out, you may want to get rid of clothes, furniture and other miscellaneous household goods. Consider donating them to local charities (such as Goodwill), or sell them to consignment stores. Or you can have a moving sale (or yard sale) or post flyers to see if other people may want to buy your goods. Final inspection will take place before you hand in your keys and you and your landlord will go through a final walk-through of the unit. You should not be responsible for any damages that existed before you moved in, as long as they were documented.
